President Joe Biden, Axios, Partnership for Public Service and more to honor 2021 Service to America Medal finalists in a special virtual event today

WASHINGTON – The nonpartisan, nonprofit Partnership for Public Service and Axios will host a virtual event today at 12:30 p.m. featuring President Joe Biden and Tony-nominated actress Adrienne Warren to honor the 2021 finalists for the Samuel J. Heyman Service to America Medals, or the Sammies.

The Sammies, affectionately referred to as the “Oscars” of government service, are the premier awards program recognizing the best in government. This year, the Partnership added a COVID-19 Response medal to recognize the extraordinary federal workers who played a leading role in responding to the pandemic and saving lives.

Today’s event will feature a conversation between Margaret Talev, managing editor for politics at Axios, and four Sammies finalists. Two of the finalists participating in the event, Kizzmekia S. Corbett, Ph.D. and Barney S. Graham, M.D., Ph.D., are nominated in the COVID-19 Response category for their groundbreaking research that led to the development of highly effective COVID-19 vaccines that are protecting hundreds of millions of people from the deadly coronavirus.

The event will also feature a special message from President Biden.
