CALL TO SERVE NETWORK

Call to Serve Summit

Register today for the first annual virtual Call to Serve Summit on April 4, 2025.

This summit is an opportunity for higher education professionals to develop and deepen federal advising expertise, gain exposure to federal hiring managers, and network with the higher education community.

This fully virtual one-day event will feature federal hiring experts representing different federal agencies, including a keynote speaker, networking opportunities and breakout sessions across thematic and regional areas.

Session content will be presented using a dynamic and user-friendly virtual platform, enabling higher education participants from across the country to participate in a variety of content formats and special topics alongside peers.
