Adaptive Leadership: Effectively Leading Through Change

This two-day intensive certificate program is designed to equip all levels of leaders with the skills for leading through challenging times with agility and purpose.

Change is constant in government. Today's leaders are navigating more complexity, pressure and uncertainty than ever before. This session covers how to lead effectively through change and uncertainty by developing personal and team adaptability, applying change models, fostering accountability and empathy, and using the change principles to influence organizational culture.

Grounded in the values of public service, this session offers practical tools and peer connection to help leaders support their teams, sustain morale and stay mission-focused amid disruption. Through interactive discussions and real-world scenarios, participants leave better equipped to lead with clarity, steadiness and purpose—no matter what comes next.

Participants will:

- Identify how change and uncertainty are impacting your individuals, teams, and/or organizations.
- Understand how change-management strategies can support your team.
- Evaluate how mindset and communication create change-ready cultures.

WHY THE PARTNERSHIP?

The Partnership for Public Service is a nonprofit, nonpartisan organization that believes good government starts with good people. We help government serve the needs of all Americans by strengthening the civil service and the systems that support it. We have trained more than 50,000 public servants across levels over the last two decades. We offer customized programs tailored to an agency's needs, off-the shelf webinars and seminars that can be adapted to an agency's context, executive coaching and open enrollment programs. Our programs are designed around our proprietary Public Service Leadership Model, which sets the standard for effective government leadership and enhances leaders' abilities to engage the federal workforce, manage change, think strategically and lead transformation and innovation.
